SEWARD & MARSHALL—MACHINISTS.

You have mentioned that the season is well advanced; it's a dry subject and we will drop it. There are other subjects that seem equally dry and we won't speak of them. But there is water, which at this time of year especially, in the shape of a bath is wonderfully refreshing, and if you have just enjoyed a comfortable bath you "feel like another person"—we won't ask you to mention who. You probably have a wash tub but you are not built like clothes, even if you and they do look well together, and a bath tub and wash tub are very different. We are in a position to furnish you with a most elaborate or most simple outfit you could wish for.

If you need any kind of piping you will do well to speak to us about it. Even though it is very warm now it is not too warm to think of warming your house with hot water this winter, and any pipes that froze last season can be fixed as well now as later.

For many years, David Dillon of Waverly has lived in a log house. A short time since Bruner, Wall & Co. of this place took the job of removing the logs and constructing a frame building under the same roof. The work is completed, and Mr. D. pronounces it an excellent job.

Congressman Thomas was in town Wednesday, calling on the NORTHERNER and other republican friends. He went from here to Chicago, and expects to attend some of the great currency debates, to thoroughly post himself on the financial question before the meeting of the next congress.

Frank Labadie, whom our West Paw Paw correspondent mentions as having fallen from his wind mill tower, was quite seriously bruised about his hip and back. No bones were broken, and it is thought that he sustained no internal injuries and that he will recover. He was attended by Dr. Hoyt.

Mr. J. M. Longwell was kicked in the side by a colt on Thursday of last week. He neglected to call a physician until Sunday, when Dr. Maynard was summoned and found one rib broken and a considerable laceration of muscles. The necessary splices were made, and "Mat" is now coming on finely.

Two chaps from somewhere were on our streets Wednesday evening, showing how well they could ride on their wheels. They gyrated around considerably and actually succeeded in riding a short distance with only one hand on the handle bar and sometimes with both feet on the coasters. Judging from appearances, they really supposed they were astonishing the natives.

C. E. LaGrave and wife and Will LaGrave and wife of Chicago will arrive here tomorrow for a two weeks' outing at Lake Park. They will occupy the Burk cottage, just vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Harrison.

"That is the best part of beauty which a picture cannot express." We may try to illustrate the "H. S. & M." clothing with fashion plates, but the grace and charm of the original garment is not there. These goods must be seen to be appreciated. You may see them at any time at E. Smith & Co.'s.

The "White House" nine of this place went over to Lawton last Friday afternoon to play a game of ball with the Lawton Juniors. The Paw Paw boys knocked out ten runs in the first inning, and keep up about the same gait to the end, the score standing 23 to 5 at the close. White House battery—Killefer and Paige.

Hereafter such certificates will be required only to deeds containing covenants of warranty. The amendment goes into effect on the 30th day of August.

The annual reunion of the Van Buren county battalion, G. A. R., will be held at Lakeside Park, Eagle Lake, Thursday, July 25. All old soldiers of the county, with their families and friends, should be present. There will be a basket picnic dinner, with coffee and hard tack furnished. Good speaking and music has been arranged. Good boating and fishing for those who enjoy the sport.

Company C, 3rd Mich. cavalry, will meet in annual reunion at Lawrence on Thursday and Friday, August 1 and 2. The place of meeting will be in Hall's grove, just west of the village. All members of the company who can possibly do so are requested to be present and to bring their wives and children with them, if they have any. It is hoped to make the occasion a grand family reunion.

Wednesday forenoon, one of the lady resorters from Lake Cora rode through the streets of this village on a bicycle. She was arrayed in a neat, natty bicycle costume of dark blue. The bloomers attracted a great deal of attention—much more than they should do. If young women want to ride wheels, it is good sense for them to wear such garments as insure both comfort and safety. The bloomers are all right, and have come to stay with us as long as bicycling is a popular sport with young women. After one or two seasons, they will attract no more attention here than they do now in the cities. Horseback riding in bloomers is now the correct thing in larger places also.

Mrs. Nancy Wood Kilburn, formerly of this place, now a resident of Worcester, Mass., began her second century of life on Friday last. Mrs. Kilburn is the mother of Joseph Kilburn of Lawton and of Mrs. Althine Durkee of Antwerp, widow of the late Elisha Durkee. Her friends and relatives celebrated the occasion of her 100th birthday in an appropriate manner. During the evening she received 100 silver coins from her children, grand children and great grand children. Mrs. Kilburn has made several journeys to Michigan, the last one when she was 92 years of age. Her many Michigan friends wish her much joy as she thus happily enters on her 101st year, a span of mortal life that is seldom vouchsafed to any.

The case of Richard Sage vs. James McNamara was on trial Wednesday, before Justice Sirrine. After remaining out all night, the jury were unable to agree and were discharged. The case was in reference to a purchase of a horse, or a horse trade. This was the third trial of the case, once before Justice Crosby of Gobleville and twice before Justice Sirrine, each trial having resulted in a disagreement. A. Lynn Free represented the plaintiff and Frank Knappen of Kalamazoo and L. H. Titus the defendant. The costs of the litigation already amount to more than the value of the horse and if the parties continue the fight, they are likely to spend all they are worth over one old horse which is claimed by one of them to be wholly valueless. Better call it quits or get together and settle the matter up.

The real and personal estate of the late George E. Breck, as invoiced, amounts to the sum of $8,353.37. In addition to this, there is a large number of book accounts and other personal obligations due the estate on which the appraisers were unable to place any value, having no way of making any intelligent estimate of their worth. It is likely that quite a considerable sum may eventually be realized out of such assets. The claims filed against the estate aggregate the sum of about $66,000. It may be readily understood from this that, after paying the expense of administration, which must be a considerable sum, it is not at all likely that creditors will realize more than ten cents on the dollar, if indeed they do not have to content themselves with even a less amount.

At about three o'clock Saturday morning, as Nightwatchman Lord entered the alley in rear of the Longwell block, he saw a man run from the rear door of H. W. Showerman's store, down the alley towards the west. Lord gave chase, calling on the man to halt, which seemed to accelerate rather than retard his speed. Lord then drew his revolver and fired at the fugitive, who ran between the bank and the corporation hall, across Main street and through Dr. Hamilton's yard. Lord fired four shots at him, all without effect, and the man escaped. Investigation showed that he had nearly removed a glass from the rear door of Showerman's store by cutting the wood of the door, evidently with a pocket knife. There is no clue as to his identity. Mr. Lord is a wide-awake guardian of property along the street, and this is one more prompt action of his that should be appreciated.
